Preface

Within the boundaries of McDonough County, Illinois are more than a hundred cemeteries and gravesites ranging in size from a single burial site to the expansive Oakwood Cemetery at Macomb. Within these cemeteries are the remains of an estimated 40,000 individuals who have died since the first settler arrived here over 150 years ago. Graves of countless others are scattered over the countryside of McDonough County; but, exact sites of many of these resting places are no longer known for various reasons. During the early days of this county, there were obviously no central burial grounds; thus, a pioneer family having the misfortune of losing one of its members placed the deceased in a grave on a family homestead and erected a makeshift marker. A number of these family burial grounds later became public cemeteries, however, many of the grave sites soon became "lost". Crude wooden markers or a hand engraved stone soon succumbed to the elements and were never replaced; scores of families moved further west after staying in this area only a short time and the gravesites of their loved ones shortly became insignificant mounds of earth; a number of families passing through this vicinity suffered individual losses. A prime example of the latter is contained in a history of Bethel Township. In 1830, four children of an emigrant family died while enroute through McDonough County. They were buried near their places of death which occurred about two miles southwest of Fandon. All traces of those graves have long been gone. During the summer of 1834, a widow lady died at her home in northern Tennessee Township. Her coffin of dressed walnut lumber was built by a local cabinet maker and she was buried in the timber near her home. Within a few years, no evidence remained to indicate the presence of her final resting place. A family who created an excellent farm from the prairies a few miles north of Macomb, maintained a fenced family burial site for several years. This cemetery contained the graves of about 12 former family members. During the early 1900's, the farm changed ownership. Shortly thereafter, the new owner removed all the stones, took down the fence, and this graveyard became part of a cornfield. These are only three of the countless incidents involving the total disappearance of burial sites. At this time, it is impossible to determine the locations of hundreds of individual's graves in this county.

Vandalism is responsible for the destruction of many grave stones. Countless markers have been partially or totally destroyed. Inscriptions have been obliterated by shotgun blasts, stones have been broken into dozens of pieces, and some markers have been entirely removed from their original locations.

While weather-wear and vandalism accounts for most of the destruction of individual tombstones, neglect is directly responsible for the eventual deterioration of graveyards. Several local cemeteries have had no protective fencing for a number of years and the grounds have become grazing land for livestock. Groundhogs and other burrowing animals have undermined large portions of various cemeteries. Some areas are nearly invisible because of massive growths of weeds and brush. Stones have fallen, broken, and become completely covered with soil and debris.

The overall conditions of our county cemeteries is a pathetic case. While some grounds are well maintained, or at least partially kept-up by various families, many have been totally forgotten. This situation is appalling and should never have come about. Apparently, lack of time, expense, and most of all regard has brought about the present-day poor conditions of many of our rural cemeteries.

Genealogical notes accompanying the various cemetery listings were prepared from a wide variety of sources including: Local area history books and atlases; newspaper files; county, state, and federal archives; family histories. These notes were collected at random from readily available sources and little, or no attempts were made to search for material for more complete genealogies. These notes are presented only for the purposes of identification and/or clarification.

Every attempt has been made to present complete and accurate information. Readers will find errors and omissions. Others will not agree with portions of my findings; however, no information contained herein is based solely on assumption or guesswork. It must be remembered that this information has been prepared for use only as a tool for further research and that nothing must be taken as final and absolute.

The larger cemeteries contained in these volumes are accompanied by grave location charts. These charts in no way are intended to represent any professionally prepared plat or survey that may exist. Their preparation and presentation are solely for general location purposes.

When copying inscriptions from grave markers, it is sometimes impossible to read some portions of the engraving. Names, dates, ages, etc. that were found to be unclear or totally missing are indicated by the use of question marks or dashes, i.e., SPICER, James T., infant son of ?J.B. & S.J.?; d. -----; age -----. The letters or numbers enclosed in parenthesis following the inscription, indicate general location as indicated on the accompanying chart.

Abbreviations used are as follows:

b.	born	m.	months
Cav.	Cavalry	md.	married
Co.	County/Company	sec.	section
d.	died/days	twp.	township
dau.	daughter	y.	years
Inf.	Infantry

Time and space prohibits proper recognition for all those individuals who gave assistance in preparing and publishing these volumes. Deep and sincere appreciation is extended to all concerned, especially to the following: My parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lester, and my wife, Rose; and to Mrs. Lavina Walton and other members of the Schuyler County Historical and Genealogical Society for printing and binding the finished product. Thank you.

Old Macomb Cemetery

Location: Emmet township; NE $\frac{1}{4}$ , Section 35; west edge of Macomb on Wigwam Hollow Road, just north of West Adams Road.

Remarks: This, the original Macomb City cemetery, was established in 1830. Histories of the county report that the first burial here was that of a daughter of Peter Hale -- who lived on the site of the cemetery; the second burial was in early 1831, when Truman Bowen died. Because of the absence of dressed lumber for a coffin, Mr. Bowen was buried in a casket built from parts of a wagon bed. The third person to be buried in this cemetery was reportedly a young girl who was burned by hot coals by her stepfather. Of the three first interments here, only the stone of Mr. Bowen could be located in 1975.

According to city officials, cemetery records were destroyed by a fire several years ago and, apparently, no other records are now available. Years of neglect, damage by vandalism, and normal wearing away of the stones by the weather has resulted in an overall poor condition at this cemetery at this time. A great number of the stones have been broken; piles of stones -- or portions of stones -- lie in the cemetery corners or against trees. The following listing of names is in two parts. Part one includes all names taken from the monuments found during this study, made in mid-1975. Part two lists information extracted from a survey made in 1935 and contains names of a number of individuals whose stones were not located in 1975.

Old Catholic Cemetery

Location: Chalmers Township, NW $\frac{1}{4}$ , Section 2; the extreme northwest corner of the McDonough County 4-H grounds, west of Macomb.

Remarks: Very little remains of this, the original Catholic cemetery for the Macomb area. The site is located on the east side of a roadway that has been closed to through traffic for a number of years. Apparently, the majority of those originally buried here were removed to St. Paul's cemetery in Macomb when that area was set aside as a catholic cemetery. The following is quoted from an early history of McDonough County: "The Catholics buried their dead west of Macomb, but through negligence had no road to their grave yard, and when they tried to get a road, the men they put in office did as they always had done--only when they asked a ticket to vote--looked on them as unreasonable and left them to help themselves. A lot therefore was bought of Joseph Burton, opposite the city grave yard, and the Catholic dead removed."

Stones for the following named individuals were located in the original cemetery in April, 1975.

Bailey Cemetery

Location: Chalmers township; SW $\frac{1}{4}$ , Section 12. One and one-half miles southwest of Macomb.

Remarks: The grounds are completely fenced; however, only a small portion of the cemetery appears to have any maintenance on a regular basis; the entire area north of the section designated "S" on the chart below, is covered by a heavy growth of weeds and brush. Many stones are broken and badly weather-worn. This study was made in April, 1975.

Brooking Cemetery

This family burial plot was located about  $\frac{1}{2}$  mile due east of a farm house now owned by the Mansir family. The Brooking family owned this property for several years; in about 1911 the farm was sold to the Bruninga family. Neighborhood sources who remember this area, recall the location of the cemetery and state that there were about a dozen stones here for several years. At the present time, there is no trace of this cemetery; no one can furnish any information as to the circumstances surrounding the closing of this cemetery, nor the present whereabouts of the stones and markers.

County Farm Cemetery

All that remains of this cemetery is a lone government headstone of a civil war veteran. The inscription reads: "Michael Nolan, Pvt., Co "A", 84th Ill. Inf."

Before it's closure several years ago, the McDonough County Farm was located about a mile south of Macomb in Scotland Township (SE $\frac{1}{4}$ , Section 7). The main building was razed in the late 1850's after the property was sold. The cemetery grounds were located east of the former building about one quarter of a mile; the site was near the top and on the northwest side of a small hill. At this time, it is impossible to determine the number or names of those buried at this location as it appears that all but the single remaining stone have been removed from their original locations.

There has been no fencing around the grounds for several years and the only evidence of it's being a cemetery is the government stone of Private Nolan and a number of slight depressions in the ground—apparently, the locations of other graves.
